A Colonial-style home built near Mount Snow, Vermont, the Austin Hill Inn began accepting paying guests in 1955. The inn has a comfortable mix of antiques and country furnishings throughout the common areas and guest rooms.

Breakfast is served each morning at individual tables and includes home-baked muffins and breads, daily breakfast specials, bacon or sausage, eggs, pancakes or French toast, hot and cold cereals and juice. Upon return from your day's activities, afternoon tea, with fruit-filled baskets and cookies just hot from the oven await your arrival.

The Austin Hill Inn also offers suspense filled Murder Mystery Weekends at various times throughout the year. Guests themselves have the fun of assuming the roles of suspects, murderers, even victims and everyone plays detective.
